Wayne Grudem is research professor of Theology and Biblical Studies at Phoenix Seminary in Phoenix, Arizona. He holds degrees from Harvard (AB), Westminster Theological Seminary (MDiv, DD), and Cambridge (PhD). He is the author of more than a dozen books including the bestselling Systematic Theology. Erik Thoennes is associate professor of Biblical Studies and Theology at Biola University/Talbot School of Theology. His is also a pastor at Grace Evangelical Free Church in La Mirada, California. He holds degrees in philosophy, systematic theology and evangelism from Central Connecticut State University (BA), Wheaton College Graduate School (MA, MA), and Trinity Evangelical Divinity School (PhD) He and his wife Donna and daughter Caroline reside in La Mirada, California.

I bought this because, (a) I really like Grudem's book on the subject and, (b) I often get questions in my SS class about fairly complicated theological topics which Grudem addresses. This sheet is 3-hole punched and fits in the back of my SS notes notebook. I can easily flip it open if I need to get a quick reminder of (for instance) the communicable and incommunicable attributes of God, or the ordo salutis (order of salvation), etc. I'm not seminary-educated; just a lay-person teaching a SS class. But this reference sheet is like have a semester of seminary at the fingertips when I'm needing a quick reference to organize my thoughts on a biblical topic, or to get a verse reference. (That's another trick- since the sheet is laminated, you can write verse references on it in wet-erase marker that correspond with your current lessons, relevant scriptures, etc.) I highly recommend this reference. It's a great idea in general, and I hope other folks come out with more of these (I'd love one on the TULIP, another on different theological views of creation, another on different protestant teachings on baptism, etc.).

I purchased this laminated sheet to go with my copy of Wayne Grudem's Systematic Theology. I'm giving the product 5 stars because it does a good job of summarizing the book in just a few pages. If there is not enough information on the sheet for one's needs, then the best thing to do is to buy Grudem's 160 page book Christian Beliefs. But one is not going to find anything better unless one uses a super-tiny font, and then most people would have to buy a magnifying glass to use it, which defeats the purpose of using a laminated sheet. This product works well for me. Wayne Grudem's

Systematic Theology is the best modern one volume systematic theology I know of. Bavinck's is excellent, but it is a multi-volume Systematic Theology, and though it has become available in English fairly recently, it is an older work. This laminated sheet is an excellent summary of the very readable tome by Grudem.

As a relatively "new" Christian, I have been greatly blessed by Dr. Wayne Grudem's Systematic Theology (check the reviews). It truly is a masterful work. Dr. Grudem hits the sweet spot of theological depth while being very readable and easily understood. Well, this week I ordered the Systematic Theology Laminated Sheet, and it is equally good. It's a six-panel laminated foldout of key Christian doctrines and concepts. Sadly, I would venture to say that most even long-time believers wouldn't be able to explain the basic concepts that are so concisely summarized here. It really is a great quick-reference for those that sometimes need to refresh themselves in the basics. Of course it's impossible to condense 1264 pages of theology into six 8 1/2" x 11" pages, but it really does an outstanding job of hitting the essentials (even eschatology). I recommend this very highly.

I actually picked this up primarily because I have Grudem's Systematic Theology book in my Logos Libronix database and do not own a hard copy of it. I wanted a "print" copy of at least a synopsis I could reference in hand in my coursework file. I have not been disappointed and would gladly purchase it again. The laminated 6-page fold out (comes three hole punched allowing for the outer fold-in sheet to clear notebook rings) is laminated on heavy stock. (In fact, it's printed on quite a bit heavier stock than the same Zondervan Greek "Get an A! Study Guide" companion to Monce's Greek book I purchased at the same time.) So it is made to hold up with heavy use over the long haul. If you're taking a class which requires Grudem's Systematic Theology as one of the primary texts, this is an excellent companion and I can heartily recommend its purchase. Even post-studies, it will make an excellent quick reference refresher as needed.

This saved my life many times in a few classes. Easy to refer to and fits in a 3-ring binder, it's a great reference tool.

My husband is able to go to things in a moment by using this sheet. It is laminated well and holds up to heavy use. It makes it easier for my husband to find things and understand without reading the large book and is less time consuming. Its for the person who has little time.

One of my favorite professors. Clear, concise...foundational knowledge of ST.

Exactly what I wanted, quickly delivered.
