Danielle Walker's Against All Grain Celebrations: A Year Of Gluten-Free, Dairy-Free, And Paleo Recipes For Every Occasion

Synopsis

This New York Times bestselling cookbook from Danielle Walker, author of Against All Grains and Meals Made Simple, presents 125 recipes for grain-free, dairy-free, and gluten-free comfort food dishes for holidays and special occasions. When people adopt a new diet for health or personal reasons, they worry most about the parties, holidays, and events with strong food traditions, fearing their fond memories will be lost along with the newly eliminated food groups. After suffering for years with a debilitating autoimmune disease and missing many of these special occasions herself, Danielle Walker has revived the joy that cooking for holidays can bring in Danielle Walker's Against All Grain Celebrations, a collection of recipes and menus for twelve special occasions throughout the year. Featuring a variety of birthday cakes, finger foods to serve at a baby or bridal shower, and re-creations of backyard barbecue standards like peach cobbler and corn bread, Danielle includes all of the classics. There's a full Thanksgiving spread--complete with turkey and stuffing, creamy green bean casserole, and pies--and menus for Christmas dinner; a New Year's Eve cocktail party and Easter brunch are covered, along with suggestions for beverages and cocktails and the all-important desserts. Recipes can be mixed and matched among the various occasions, and many of the dishes are simple enough for everyday cooking. Stunning full-color photographs of every dish make browsing the pages as delightful as cooking the recipes, and beautiful party images provide approachable and creative entertaining ideas. Making recipes using unfamiliar ingredients can cause anxiety, and while trying a new menu on a regular weeknight leaves some room for error, the meal simply cannot fail when you have a table full of guests celebrating a special occasion. Danielle has transformed her most cherished family traditions into trustworthy recipes you can feel confident serving, whether you're hosting a special guest with food allergies, or cooking for a crowd of regular grain-eaters.

DANIELLE WALKER is the author of two New York Times best-selling cookbooks, Against All Grain and Meals Made Simple. She is also the voice behind the most popular grain-free website on the Internet, AgainstAllGrain.com. She is a self-trained chef who tempts a range of appetites with innovative and accessible grain-free recipes that are not only healthy and delicious, but also can be credited with saving her life after a diagnosis of a serious autoimmune disease. She lives with her husband and two sons in the San Francisco Bay Area.

If you are Paleo by necessity (or have someone in your life who is): this is the book you've been waiting for! My Christmas dinner last year was a couple of boiled potatoes and a few slices of the (conventional but at least gluten free) ham my husband made. A few family members (we do Christmas as a pot luck) mentioned afterward that they knew I couldn't eat what they were bringing, but were stumped for a Paleo option. For as great as the Internet is, it becomes a game of roulette when you're searching for special occasion recipes —œ recipes you're going to make once and don't necessarily have time to test beforehand. That's what is great about Danielle Walker's recipes —œ they are foolproof. I have been Paleo for almost three years and have made countless recipes from her website and now all three of her cookbooks, and have yet to have a recipe fail me! Every possible event from New Year's Eve, to a baby shower are covered in Celebrations; big meals (with the recipes scaled appropriately to save you the math) and small plates and seasonal treats are included, with gorgeous photos of every recipe throughout. The recipes I've tried so far have all been winners:- Buffalo wings with herb ranch dressing (p. 53)- Chile garlic rapini (p. 80)- Lemon bars (p. 117) —œ this was one of my favorite desserts as a child and I'm so glad to have it back in my life!- Skillet "corn" —œ bread (p. 131)- Margarita (p. 135) àœ yes, really!- Mini àœ corn àœ dog muffins (p. 143)- Heirloom tomato, watermelon, and basil salad (p. 168)- Special sauce (p. 172) àœ great on burgers, eggs, pretty much anything!- Blackened salmon (p. 177) àœ great as chicken, too- Truffled bacon deviled eggs (p. 187)- Butternut sage carbonara (p. 224)- Roasted garlic mashed cauliflower (p.

237)- Pumpkin spice latte (p. 263) àœ works as a creamer, too!- Blender bread (p.
323)- Whipped coconut cream (p. 331)The only things missing àœ and this is as someone spoiled by Danielle àœ first two cookbooks àœ are clear cooktimes at the beginning of each recipe and a picture index of the recipes.These formatting preferences aside, Celebrations is the essential special occasion resource for anyone following a Paleo template.

I can not say enough positive things about this incredible cookbook. What is so special about Celebrations, is how Danielle has remade all those iconic meals that you eat during holidays and celebrations, but into healthier, paleo versions. She has recipes for New Year àœ Eve, Game Day, Valentines, Easter, Mother àœ Day luncheon, Father àœ Day Cookout, Birthday Parties, Fourth of July Barbecue, Summer Shower, Halloween, Autumn Dinner Party, Thanksgiving and Christmas. Not only does she include incredible, well tested, reliable recipes, she also has filled the book with so many tips and tricks.
Most recipes have tidbit notes on how different brands of paleo products fair in the recipes, or make-ahead tips to simplify a party prep. The front of the book is filled with more grain-free recipe tips and ten wonderful tips for effortless entertaining. And just like her other two books, she includes an extensive ingredient glossary and substitutions and her recommended kitchen gear. The recipe index in the back makes for simple holiday meal planning. You can access all the nutritional data for each recipe online. One of my favorite little perks- this cookbook LAYS FLAT ON IT àœ OWN. Which is basically mind-boggling to me and makes cooking so much easier. Even though the recipes are geared towards holidays, they are simple enough and delicious enough to make as part of an every day meal as well. These have been added to our regular rotation. My family doesn't eat paleo or have any dietary needs, and yet they have loved these recipes just as much as I have. The recipes cook up like traditional non-paleo recipes, but in a healthier way, which is really fantastic. I don't feel the need to make 2 separate dinners for paleo and non-paleo people. I have cooked through many of the recipes including:- A,B,&J Hand

I absolutely love this book. I don't have any food allergies or sensitivities (that I've identified), but sometimes I like to clean up my diet where possible. I'll by no means an expert Paleo-cook or consumer, but regardless, I love cooking these recipes! I follow Danielle on Instagram and adore her ... so I originally bought this book out of support more than necessity. But I've made several of the recipes and absolutely love them. Sooooo this review is for the general public that may not be sold on the lifestyle but you too can enjoy this book! Oh and I always have a jar of her ranch dressing in the fridge. My husband might as well drink it. Can't say enough about the wonderful ideas and recipes in this book!

We need this book for our health. This lady speaks as an authority who needs this life style change. She is smiling, but it is hard. She tries to show you the way, not as a religion, not as a "poor me" attitude; she has many ideas to help with issues that "grain" can hurt you in.

I was so excited for this book release! Everything I have made so far has been wonderful. It's nice to have tried and true "celebratory" foods this time of year. I always feel better when I eat paleo, and this is a great resource! I have had: Pumpkin spice latte, maple Pumpkin pie, roasted garlic cauliflower, blender bread, herb drop biscuits, autumn harvest salad, and Candied sweet potatoes. More to come!
