MARY POPE OSBORNE is the author of the New York Times number one bestselling Magic Tree

House series. She and her husband, writer Will Osborne (author of Magic Tree House: The Musical), live in northwestern Connecticut with their three dogs. Ms. Osborne is also the coauthor of the companion Magic Tree House Fact Trackers series with Will, and with her sister, Natalie Pope Boyce. ã Â SAL MURDOCCA has illustrated more than 200 children's trade and text books. He is also a librettist for children's opera, a video artist, an avid runner, hiker, and bicyclist, and a teacher of children's illustration at the Parsons School of Design. Sal lives and works in New York with his wife, Nancy.

We have purchased every single Magic Tree House book thus far and plan on continuing as they come out. Our kids, ages six and four, love these books and are always wanting to know when the next 'Jack and Annie' book is coming out. Here, in Abe Lincoln At Last!, Ms. Osborne does it again! The book is just enough facts riddled throughout it to make it educational and enough fiction to make it interesting. At our children's young ages, this is the best way to introduce some history to them, as it pulls them and they are interested. Later, as they learn more history, they will revert back to what they read in these books and have a foundation. I wish we had these when I was a kid! I remember history being boring (!) and once that thought is in the head, forget about trying to make it interesting. This is the opposite: The kids are pulled into it, making it fun and they beg to read more. It's always the same ending with the kids when we read a Magic Tree House book. When we're finished (we read them as a family), they look at us and say: "Is that it? Can't we read more? Pleeeeeeeeze?" They are learning the love of reading. My hat is off to you, Mary Pope Osborne! You're doing a GREAT job and we thank you. :) Sincerely, Anne :)

Our 8 year old Grandson has been reading these books for the past 2 years. They are really good and when he first started reading these I read to him. I was always intrigued and couldn't wait to read (as was he). Now he reads these books to himself, but is still very interested. You learn a lot about our history and these books make it fun to learn! ã Â Magic Tree House Boxed Set, Books 1-4: Dinosaurs Before Dark, The Knight at Dawn, Mummies in the Morning, and Pirates Past Noon Magic Tree House Boxed Set, Books 5-8: Night of the Ninjas, Afternoon on the , Sunset of the Sabertooth, and Midnight on the Moon Magic Tree House Boxed Set, Books 9-12: Dolphins at Daybreak, Ghost Town at Sundown, Lions at Lunchtime, and Polar Bears Past Bedtime

I bought this book at the end of my Abe Lincoln unit. I decided to read it aloud when it came in even though the unit was long past. My 3rd graders LOVED IT! I was blown away by how much they remembered from their unit. They were able to pick up on small details about him while I read aloud. I don't want to give too much away, but this is probably them most clever of the Magic Tree House series.

The writer has become such a wonderful story teller and #47 is a masterpiece! My son Ben started out with this series 10 years ago and has passed his love of them down to his younger sister. They both have dyslexia, and needed books that held their interest and challenged them. These books deliver both. Ben is a college grad now, and Genny is now a straight A student in second grade. This entire series of books have a very special book shelf in our home, and each book is re-read over and over many times. We anxiously await the release of the next book.

My son loves these books and I love the price since they are cheaper than the hardcover.

All Magic Treehouse books are great. This one is fun to read and full of great life lessons and history, too.

We just keep adding to his collection. For his birthday one year I had managed to fill an entire box of about 35 of these books. I did not realize it would be the best gift he got for his birthday. My grandson was tickled to death to receive this gift, he didn't seem to care about anything else he received. This one had him jumping up and down, showing them to his Dad and a big smile on his face.

Great series of books. Almost have bought every single one. Read them to elementary school children. So many topics it keeps them all very interested. Very educational books. Love them all!
