Everyone's An Author With 2016 MLA Update: With Readings (Second Edition)

Synopsis

THIS TITLE HAS BEEN UPDATED TO REFLECT THE 2016 MLA UPDATE. A rhetoric that bridges the gap between the writing students already do in social media and other nonacademic contexts and the writing they're expected to do in college—all within a strong rhetorical framework. Built on the keystones of rhetoric, Everyone's an Author provides a strong foundation for authoring in the digital age: in college essays, but also on Twitter; in print, but also online; with words, but also with sound, video, and images. It shows students that the rhetorical skills they already use in social media, in their home and religious communities, at work and in other nonacademic contexts are the same ones they'll need to succeed in college. Examples and readings drawn from across multiple media and dealing with topics that matter to students today make this a book that everyone who takes first-year writing will relate to.

Customer Reviews

"Everyone's an Author is about writing as it really is today—writing with words and images and sounds, writing for print and cyberspace, writing for all the venues where it's happening right now. Right off the bat, that makes it different from the majority of rhetorics out there." — Clyde Moneyhun, Boise State University

"I really like the way the authors frame social media as productive tools, rather than as barriers that get in the way of good student writing." — Casie Fedukovich, North Carolina State University

"I like the way this book grapples with the public turn in writing without sacrificing coverage of the academic genres that we want students to know and to use. It will appeal immensely to 21st century students, and I suspect it's going to make me a better writing teacher as well.

- Alison Russell, Xavier University
 "Everyone's an Author remains faithful to a rhetorically informed approach to writing instruction, and, as its title suggests, it understands that both rhetoric and writing are undergoing profound changes as a result of new technologies. Because it is sharply attuned to such changes, it offers writing teachers new ways to think about old concerns: audience and genre, argument and style, research and rhetoric.

- Frank Farmer, University of Kansas
 "The level of guidance is spot on for students, and I'm especially impressed by the attention to writing across academic fields, across cultures and communities, across media, and across genres. This book encourages rhetorical savvy.

- Rolf Norgaard, University of Colorado
 "Everyone's an Author is a fresh, original, and innovative writing textbook that sets a new standard in the field. Students and instructors alike will love its contemporary, multimodal approach.

- Gary A. Olson, Idaho State University

Her scholarly interests include visual literacy, composition theory and pedagogy, and writing center theories and practices. Keith Walters is Professor of Applied Linguistics at Portland State University, where he teaches sociolinguistics and discourse analysis. Previously, he taught in the Linguistics Department at the University of Texas at Austin and in the English Department at Ohio State. Much of his research has focused on issues of language and identity in Tunisia, where he served as a Peace Corps volunteer, and in the Arab world more broadly. He is the coauthor of two other textbooks, Everything is an Argument with Readings and What Language Got to Do with It?

My rental arrived faster than I did expect. I actually enjoyed the material that the textbook provided. It was for my English A111 class this semester but I decided to actually purchase it instead because it had so much useful content for when I write my future essays in my other classes. Everyone's an Author with Readings (Second Edition)

This is a great writing textbook, I am glad we got it for my class, and the rental came in wonderful condition!

Served it's purpose for college course for a friend.

Great for my class

nice

No damage to book, good as new.

thick book good for english 1A

Used for college. As expected.
