Synopsis

Starting with tranquil scenes of prosperity that were shattered by the assassination of Archduke Ferdinand and concluding with the signing of the Armistice and the Treaty of Versailles, this dramatic coloring book traces the history of "the war to end all wars." Customer Reviews

This coloring book has brought three generations together at my house. Grandpa, Sons and Grandsons love coloring with colored pencils in this book, reading and discussing the History summaries, and with 11 two page illustrations it allows two people to easily color the same illustration. My heart is warmed each time I see my Husband and Sons truly interested in and sharing time together with my Grandson's. This book has many details and is for teens or adults, however my grandsons age 6 and up choose to color in it quite often with their older cousins and Grandpa and Dad. It includes horses, tanks, ships, planes, guns, smoke and fire, what boy wouldn't like it. COLORING BOOK; 1. 23 heavy weight, bright white pages with images on front and back of page for a total of 46 pages with 35 realistic illustrations to color, (24 single page images and 11 illustrations that cover two pages.)2. Colored pencils are best used for coloring this book, pages are very detailed with many tiny details3. Images are drawn in black lines, with many black areas and dark black vertical lines showing shadows,4. Images are not boxed in and end before the edge of the page.HISTORY;This interactive book is a chronological view of the history of World War I shown thru illustration's to color and 2 paragraph summaries on 24 single page illustrations and 4 paragraph summaries on 11 double page illustrations. The book relates more than the battles, it brings to life the human side of war with illustrations that include; life before the war, medical care for soldiers, and America Rallies to the cause. Illustrations and Summaries include:Europe on the Eve of War, The assasination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand, Marching off to battle, The Marne, The introduction of Gas Warfare, The Disaster at Gallipoli, The First Tanks used in Combat, Campaigns in the Alps, The Battle of Verdum, The Battle of Jutland, The deadly Machine Gun, The Lafayette Excadrille, The Battle of Somme, Giant Zeppelins Bomb London, Mata Hari, Pershings Mexican Expedition against Pancho Villa, Life in the Trenches, The Red Baron, The sinking of the Lusitania, President Wilson Declares War on Germany, America Rallies to the Cause, Lafayette, We Are Here (Pershing landing in France), Collapse of the Russian Front, The Russian Revolution, Lawrence of Arabia Captures Aqaba, Medical Care for the Soldiers, American Troops in the Trenches, The Charge of the Australian Light Horse at Beersheba, The Germans begin their last Big Offensive, The Marine Devil Dogs of Belleau Wood, The Lost Battalion, Sergeant York, Assaulting the Hindenburg, The Sighing of the Armistice, and the Treaty of Versailles.

I love simple things like coloring books. Since it is the 100th anniversary of our entry into the First World War it would be a good instructional tool for classrooms. Dover always does a nice job on it's coloring books. A good price as well. You are permitted to photo copy pages for instructional not for profit use.

Superb historic bits and pictures to color. The one that stands out the most is the page on gas weapons, showing the military dogs in gas masks. Eerie, but historic.

Purchased on behalf of my mother. She liked it.

This period is hazy for me; I do not believe it was much emphasized during my grammar school years or high school years. I have read the captions under the pictures and am pleased to note how simplity they were written. I would recommend this book to Junior High and above students.

Good for busy work while I am ready.

My 6 year old loves history and learning about why things happened. This was very age appropriate and he enjoyed reading it together at night. It is long, so they really need to be interested.

It's great because it allows my Grandfather who loves crafting and painting models of war time things to do something artsy while gaining a windows into the little pieces of history with the extra tidbits of information on the bottom of the page!!!
