Robert L. Maxwell, PhD, MLS, is associate librarian at the Harold B. Lee Library at Brigham Young University. He serves as leader of the special collections and humanities cataloging team and authorities librarian for genre/form teams. Author or co-author of numerous books on cataloging, his Maxwell's Guide to Authority Work won the 2003 Highsmith Award, the highest award in library literature. He represents the Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL) to the Association for Library Collections & Technical-Services (ALCTS) Committee on Cataloging Description and Access. This is the ALA group responsible for developing official ALA positions on additions to and revisions of AACR2. His MLS is from the University of Arizona, where he has taught at the School of Information Resources and Library Science.

Out of date. No science or technology.

Of the 6 titles I have purchased on this subject, this is the best. It was the most comprehensive (I wanted further explanation on less discussed subjects). The examples were okay although still representative of an academic library for the most part. I am still looking for the manual directed towards K-12 libraries. Until then, this one works.
