Growing Up In Heaven: The Eternal Connection Between Parent And Child

Synopsis

In Growing Up in Heaven, New York Times best-selling author and world-famous medium James Van Praagh brings to light the amazing journey of children who have passed from earth to heaven. Growing Up in Heaven follows the path of a child's soul - their time spent in heaven and their connection to the living. In this, his most moving work, Van Praagh reveals the reality that love transcends the physical and material planes of this world. Growing Up in Heaven lifts our spirits with the knowledge that our departed ones will always be with us - an extraordinary gift for all of us who yearn to understand life on the other side. Blessed with an exceptional gift, James Van Praagh has the ability to bridge the gap between this world and the next. Based on nearly 30 years of spirit communication, this renowned and beloved medium takes us on a powerful, eye-opening, and ultimately inspiring voyage. Filled with uplifting true stories and profound messages of love, this astounding look at heaven provides a remarkably detailed portrayal of the child's soul as it moves from this world to the next. Our eyes and hearts open, and we experience first-hand the unbreakable bond between parent and child, all the while glimpsing a vision of heaven.

Customer Reviews

I love this book. I wish I didn't need to read a book about my child growing up in Heaven, but my 23 year old precious son was in an accident and died 16 months ago. I am a Christian, so I struggled with ordering this book, there were parts I skipped, but for the most part this was a comforting book. As a mom, we always want to know our children make it to their destination (call us when you get there safely), we want to know who they are hanging out with and if they are having fun. As a Christian, we are only told vaguely that our child is in heaven and it is beyond anything we can imagine. But, I want to know .. how long does it take, did my son get there safely, did he find grandma and grandpa okay. This book tells you this is what happens... not maybe what happens or just that it's great, but as a mom here is what it looks like for your child, and now that you know, you can rest a little.

I can't say I've read all of this book, but I can say what I have read has been a huge comfort. I lost my first son when he turned 2 months old. It was the hardest most heart breaking time in my whole life. Words can't describe the feelings one has when they lose or have lost a child. I am a natural skeptic, but I do believe in God and that there is a place we all go after we die. That gives me a lot of hope. This author is someone I've followed a little over the years (my son left in 2001). I feel the way he conveys the messages are very loving and touching and I can't see how he could be a "fake". It's up to the individual to believe or not... it also depends on your faith. I do feel some people are "gifted". Either way, this is a book of beautiful and heart warming stories about life, loss and love. It's also about having something to look forward to after the life on this plane ends. I've gifted this book sadly to three people all having lost children. I bought my book originally from a Dollar Tree (I lucked up) and after giving it away reordered it only to give that away and then again. It's definitely a read for any parent(s) having a hard time moving forward. Go ahead and take a step.. your loved one will always wait for you.

I am a James Van Praagh (JVP) fan. His other books, especially "Unfinished Business" and "Ghosts Among Us" are fast reads and very comforting for anyone who has "lost" someone that they love. This book is just as good and is long overdue! Speaking as a parent, I cannot imagine the pain and grief that people must bear due to the loss of a child. Speaking as a medical professional, there is little comfort I can provide to a parent who has just lost a child. I have often hoped, when watching James work (weave his loving magic is more accurate) that he will focus in on people who have lost children, because they are in need of any help, hope and comfort they can get. If you have lost a child (my heart goes out to you) or just know someone who has lost a child, this book is invaluable. I thank James for writing it and I am giving it as a gift to people I know who can benefit from it.

I lost my baby boy in June 2000. Ever since I've been tormented about him. Where is he, is he scared and alone, is his soul lost or in trouble? Many horrible thoughts come to mind and I have lived in my own personal hell. This book has helped me realize that my son is ok. I realize my son is safe, not scared. I realize I'm supposed to be taught something by his death (difficult to accept but I have). I do think he has been around me but, since I'm so angry I didn't know it. This book has helped me release that anger and feel peaceful inside. This book has also helped me grow spiritually. I see where my soul has done bad things out of anger. Now, I think before I get so angry I lash out in the wrong way. I'm able to see I got frustrated too easily and handled situations too intently and unhealthy. I now can see and find peace. I wish I would have known about this book 13 years ago. Thank you James Van Praagh!! Thank you! Thank you!

... Of all that lies behind the veil of this life. I found unexpected surprises addressing questions I've pondered for many, many years. Lessons abound in even the most painful and gut wrenching of life's experiences. There is so much more going on behind the scenes here in samsara. The strength of the gift James possesses is only matched by his wisdom, warmth and humor. I'm honored to know him and have him as a teacher. I highly recommend this fascinating and deeply touching book that, with proper understanding, can once and for all put to rest our fears and feelings of utter devastation and 'loss' in response to tragedy and death. Matt..

Growing Up In Heaven gets me thinking again that our daughter and those of us who love her are just carrying out the plan we agreed upon before we were even born. I always believed it before she died and I really could not ignore it after. I still believed it. It helps to know I will see her again. A friend of mine told me she would come to me in a dream before 30 days time. She did! What she told me was a lot like what was in a lot of the letters. Thanks for bringing me back to my spirit James.

Very well written book. I love this author. I loved reading every page

I loved this book. I work in hospice and it answered some questions that I had. We are so afraid of death, but by reading this book you realize that the after life is really where we belong and where we will be in peace. This is a wonderful book for those parents and grandparents who have lost a child - it will show them that these beautiful children are happy, with their loved ones who have gone on and they don't want the parents to suffer so much.
